When setting off on vacation with teens, getting the right resort is key. The Caribbean offers the perfect mix of blissful weather, tropical setting, and a host of teen-friendly resorts that offer your kids the best vacation experience possible. With attractions ranging from watersports to teen clubs and superb spas, you're guaranteed a great family vacation in the Caribbean. Here are our top picks for the most teen-friendly resorts in the Caribbean.

Windjammer, St Lucia

St. Lucia's family-friendly Windjammer Landing Villa Beach Resort is all about barefoot luxury. An all-inclusive (and a la carte) resort, families will love the 1,500 feet of white sand beach, five swimming pools (including two for kids), the watersports and gym, as well as tennis courts. Outdoor resort activities range from island cruises to rainforest excursions.

Another top teen-friendly resort for your family vacation in the Caribbean is the Aruba Marriott. Although you'll find an adult exclusive pool, you'll also find plenty to keep the family happy, including watersports, pools, a lazy river, and water slides that will keep the kids busy for hours!

The beach's Surf Club has its Teens Den (for ages 12 to 17), home to Wii and PS3 gaming consoles and a lounge. A separate game room just for teens is also available, with a foosball table, pool and air hockey tables, and a host of arcade games, too. They can also use the outdoor basketball courts. The entire family will love the rooms with their contemporary bathrooms, 37-inch LCD flat-panel TVs, and large, private balconies, as well as excellent restaurants like Ruth's Chris Steak House and the very relaxing Mandara Spa.
